President's Message

"Librarians are the coolest people out there doing the hardest job out there on the frontlines. And every time I get to encounter or work with librarians, I'm always impressed by their sheer awesomeness."

— Neil Gaiman

President, Grace Carr-Benjamin

I would like to personally welcome you AWESOME People to the Association of Seventh-day Adventist Librarians (ASDAL) 36th Conference, and in particular, to the sunshine state of Florida, and even more excitedly to the amusement mecca of North America, Orlando!

ASDAL was established to engender and promote communication and partnership between Seventh-day Adventist Librarians and to highlight some of the great work that is being done on the various campuses from which you come. It is an exciting time to be a librarian, information professional. With new and emerging technologies, information can be made accessible to our customers in the formats they desire and with little delay.

The theme, "Information Literacy: Librarians as Agents of Transformation," is so crucial to our very existence, which is to provide greater information access and dissemination. Once we are able get our patrons to a reasonable level of information literacy, our jobs will become much easier. The more information literate a person becomes, the better decisions they make.

The year 2015 was wrought with many challenges, setbacks, heartbreaks and sorrow, but thanks be to God we are all here. We have lost some loved ones from among our ranks and members have lost loved ones that were very close to them; we pray that God will hold you up and give you strength to cope.

As president, working with the executive committee, I have managed to put in place some long overdue structures, such as the ability to register and pay your fees online. I wish to thank our treasurer for the hard work and efforts in making this a reality.

Each person who will present has spent a considerable amount of time in preparing, so I encourage you to make the most of each presentation. I trust as we make new friends and experience the tours, that indeed ASDAL 2016 will be a memorable one. Have a great conference ALL!

WELCOME

President, David Greenlaw

Dear Conference Attendees:

It is my pleasure to welcome you to our beautiful campus here at Adventist University of Health Sciences (ADU), and to our extraordinary clinical partner next door – Florida Hospital. Together we develop skilled healthcare professionals who live the healing values of Christ; thus, extending His healing ministry to the communities we serve.

This close collaboration between Adventist institutions, like ADU enjoys with Florida Hospital, and the benefits it brings, is similar to what you hope to achieve at this year's 36th annual conference for the Association of Seventh-day Adventist Librarians.

As you come together to share best practices and to advance your profession, it is my prayer that the presence of Christ will join you in a way that brings a special blessing to your proceedings.

Dr. David Greenlaw

President, Adventist University of Health Sciences

As members of the 2016 ASDAL Local Arrangements Committee, the R. A. Williams Library team welcomes you to the 36th annual ASDAL Conference.

It has been our pleasure to be a part of dreaming, planning, and collaborating to create a successful conference that will be of value to all attendees. As you immerse yourself in the ASDAL Conference experience, may you feel connected, inspired, enlightened, encouraged, motivated, and refreshed.

We appreciate the opportunity to serve the ASDAL membership and wish you a wonderful week in Orlando.

Blessings to all,
2016 ASDAL Site Committee

PROGRAM Sunday, June 19 –Monday, June 20

Sunday, June 19

6:00 - 8:00 Registration, Meet and Greet, Poster Session, Cuban dinner buffet.

Monday, June 20

7:30 – 8:00 Registration

8:00 – 8:20 Worship: Stan Dobias, Vice Chair and faculty of Health and Biomedical Sciences

8:20 – 8:30 Welcome: Deanna Flores, Chair Local Arrangements Committee
Grace Carr-Benjmain, ASDAL President
Terry Robertson, ASDAL President Elect

8:30 – 9:15 Todd Chobotar, Florida Hospital Mission Development Office: “The History of Adventist Healthcare and Florida Hospital”

9:15 – 10:00 Sabrina Riley: “The Adventist Medical Cadet Corps”

The Seventh-day Adventist Medical Cadet Corps is a unique program in the history of religious conscientious objection to combat military service. But it is a story which is quickly being forgotten in an era of volunteer armed forces in many countries and options for alternative service in others. Riley is in the midst of a project to preserve MCC founder Everett Dick’s extensive papers related to his leadership of the program and housed at Union College , to survey resources available in other repositories, and to share this significant story with a new generation.

10:00 – 10:30 BREAK WITH VENDORS

10:30 – 11:00 Kenrie Hylton: “Digitization Workflow Model and Software Interoperability”

A system for scanning documents, including establishing appropriate metadata to capture to facilitate proper digital storage. Presentation will provide a walkthrough of a digitization workflow that has been optimized and present plans for further improvements to the model through the use of software solutions.

11:00 – 11:30 Benjamin Baker: “The Encyclopedia of Seventh-day Adventists”

Baker will provide an overview of the Encyclopedia project and share ways in which Adventist librarians and ASDAL will have an integral role in its success.

PROGRAM Monday, June 20

11:30 – 1:00 LUNCH on your own. Seating available at the Creation Conference Center room C.

1:00 – 1:40 Adorée K. Hatton: “Ephemeral to Enduring: The Role of Archival Software in a Digital World”

Why is archiving transient material important? What does this mean to a small archives department? It is becoming increasingly important to use new and developing archival software to manage both born-digital collections and traditional collections. This presentation will introduce Collective Access software, and discuss how our department chose it and implemented it.

1:40 – 2:15 Jim Ford: “Born Digital and Becoming Digital: Issues in Modern Adventist Resources”

As we advance into the digital century, more and more Adventist resource are available in digital format. Also, many of us are working to create digital files of material from pre-digital days. What to make of all of this? What should we be thinking about?

2:15 – 2:30 BREAK

2:30 – 3:15 Roy Kline: “Do We Really Need a Record Retention Schedule? In Any Event, How Difficult Could It Possibly Be to Devise One?”

Reasons for devising and implementing a Record Retention Schedule within your organization and how to galvanize support for same. Components touched on include strategic issues, data gathering, structuring your Retention Schedule, record series development, and factors to evaluate for determining retention periods. Finally, your Retention Schedule is in place and now you’re done - or are you? What you’ll need to do after the schedule is in place. Lessons learned from going through the entire process.

3:15 – 3:45 Lori N. Curtis: “Do We Need Another Form?”

To be an archivist, must one love to create and use forms? Probably not -- but it doesn’t hurt. This presentation will highlight some of the forms that we in the Department of Archives and Special Collections at Loma Linda University have created and found useful in the day-to-day organization and running of the department. The staff (and by that I mostly mean me) have become quite adept at creating fillable and distributable forms via Adobe Acrobat Professional. Experiences and examples will be shared. Forms from other Adventist institutions will be available for perusal.

PROGRAM Monday, June 20

3:45 – 4:00 BREAK

4:00 – 4:30 ARS Business Session and Updates

PROGRAM Tuesday, June 21

- 8:00 – 8:30 Worship: Lonnie Mixon, ADU Vice President, Marketing
- 8:30 – 10:00 Keynote: Ross and Nichole Martin, Seminole State College: “Would You Watch It? Creating Effective and Engaging Video Tutorials”
- Video tutorials have emerged as a common method to convey our information literacy goals to both on and off campus students. They empower students to learn on their own schedules and terms, while providing a comfortable learning environment. And they’ve been shown to work...as long as key design and educational principles are followed. Come see how professional experience and multidisciplinary research have helped us arrive at a set of practices, methods, and approaches to make the most of video tutorials in today’s academic library!
- 10:00 – 10:30 BREAK WITH VENDORS
- 10:30 – 11:30 Tour of Florida Hospital
- 11:30 – 1:00 LUNCH on your own

- 3:30 – 3:45 BREAK
- 3:45 – 4:15 Joel Lutes: “The Future of Scholarly Communication and Information Literacy: An Invitation to a Paradigm Shift”

PROGRAM Tuesday, June 21

4:15 - 4:45 Kieren Bailey: "Flip or Flop: Student Perspectives on the Flipped Classroom Approach"

The flipped classroom approach can be defined as "obtaining core content prior to coming to class" (Burke 2015). This pedagogical approach is highly recommended throughout the education field as a useful tool to enhance learning and increase student engagement (Burke, 2015). Academic librarians have found this approach to be very helpful when dealing with one-shot instructional sessions. While the flipped classroom approach allows a librarian to include more activities to increase student engagement in the class session, students are required to have completed homework before coming to the library. How do students feel about the homework? Do they feel like they are prepared for the activities in class? Do the students feel like they have learned more during a flipped classroom session? This paper will critically review recent studies that researched student reactions to the flipped classroom approach, including their reaction to homework.

4:45 – 5:15 Sheila Clark and Darel Bennedbaek: "Perception So Far: Student Perspectives and the Library"

The goal of this research project being undertaken by Sheila Clark and Darel Bennedbaek is to look at the perspectives that students at a small Christian university have about their library and how those perspectives affect usage and the students' individual performance in the university setting. Besides examining the link between the library and students, we also hope to be able to identify ways in which we can incorporate students' perspectives and provide services that may pre-empt some of the constantly changing needs of students. This is a mixed-methods study that uses both qualitative interviews and quantitative data, including data from an annual survey and student GPAs.

6:00 – 8:00 Dine around-Shuttle departs from Comfort Suites to Winter Park Village

6:00 – 8:00 ALICE— Adventist Library Information Cooperative Council Committee Meeting will be held at Comfort Suites Rollins Room— Supper provided

PROGRAM Wednesday, June 22

Tour Day

Our tour day will include a trip to the past, the future and the best in library innovation. The past is showcased at the Orange County History Museum located in the renovated 1927 courthouse in downtown Orlando. A trip to Florida Polytechnic University will be a glimpse of the future. There is nothing traditional about this campus; think space ship. Their library has no physical books. Envision space and light. To experience the best in library innovation we will visit the Melrose Center at the Orange County Public Library. Audio, video and photography studios are set up for patron use. Each also has editing capabilities. There is a lab for 3D printing, computer programming and robotics. And finally, The Harriet F. Ginsburg Health Sciences Library at Lake Nona is a state-of-the-art facility.

PROGRAM Thursday, June 23

8:00 – 8:30

Worship: Don Williams, Head of Office of Mission at ADU

8:30 – 9:00

Lauren R. Matacio and Bruce Closser: "Connect or Disconnect: Collaborating with Faculty to Transform Information Literacy"

Teachers and librarians occupy different terrain on a university campus, yet they fight many of the same battles. Both want to enhance student learning through information literacy, writing, critical thinking, and problem solving. Despite these common goals, many times librarians and teachers seem to be at cross purposes. This is unfortunate, because research shows that research and writing are best supported when librarians and teachers collaborate closely. This presentation looks at teacher/librarian collaboration in general and draws specific lessons from the two-year experience of a librarian embedded into an advanced college writing class.

9:00 – 9:30

Jessica Spears: "The Recomposing of Information Literacy: How McKee Library Changed English 102"

McKee Library's instruction team has had a close working relationship with the college composition professors for many years and has often led multiple instruction sessions for each course during a given semester. The library team quickly noticed that the use of "edutainment" failed to produce students that possessed practical information literacy skills after completing the library classes. In an effort to improve those necessary skills, several new strategies were developed and implemented over the past three semesters, including the inclusion of an embedded librarian service, the transition from activity based lectures to workshop class sessions, advanced integration of bibliographic and research tools, and the availability of tutorials in multiple electronic formats. This presentation will explore how the instruction team came together to reconfigure composition instruction on campus.

PROGRAM Thursday, June 23

- 9:30 – 10:00 Alfredo Vergel: "Circulating iPads and Access to Electronic Content"
- Aiming to improve access to its collection of electronic resources, the library at Southwestern Adventist University established an iPad-lending program during the fall of 2016 with funding provided by the Texas State Library & Archives Commission (TSLAC) under its Impact Grant program. The project, made possible by a grant from the U.S. Institute of Museum and Library Services to TSLAC under the provisions of the Library Services and Technology Act, was especially expected to improve access to the library's e-book collection. Results provide a case study in the extent to which lending e-readers increases the use of electronic resources.
- 10:00 – 10:30 BREAK WITH VENDORS
- 10:30 – 11:15 Roundtable Discussions
- Big Picture (directors),
Friends (focus on patrons),
Stuff (materials and resources),
Toys (technology),
Treasures (archival)
- 11:15 – 11:30 Group Photo
- 11:30 – 1:00 LUNCH on your own
- 1:00 – 3:00 Business Session #2
- 3:00 – 3:15 BREAK
- 3:15 – 4:30 Tour of Adventist University of Health Sciences Campus/Library

POSTER SESSION

POSTER SESSION Sunday, June 19, 6:30p.m.– 8:00p.m.

Terry Dwain Robertson

M.A., M.L.S., Seminary Librarian, James White Library, Andrews University, 1998-.

Title: Objective Research? In the Seminary?

Abstract: Common understandings of “objective” research include values such as “factual” and “interpretive neutrality”. There is a growing consensus that the person doing the research counts as much as if not more in the interpretive outcomes than the “facts” alone, and that “interpretive neutrality” is not possible.

The poster explores an alternative framing of “objective research” as the grounded, intentional, and savvy analysis of an “object” in conversation with a community of peers/experts for the purpose of creating knowledge.

Following Ferraris’ ontology, three classes of “objects” exist.

Natural objects: exist whether or not a person notices them. Example: table, tree. Seminary application: archaeological artifacts.

Ideal objects: exist even though only a mind can conceive of them. Example: triangle. Seminary application: systematic theology.

Social objects: only exist in a social context. Example: documents (authored by a person for a reader in a specific context for a purpose). Seminary application: Biblical exegesis, church history, Christian ministry, missiology.

Lauren Matacio

Instruction Librarian, Andrews University

Title: A New Portrait of Ellen White

Abstract: A new portrait of Ellen White painted by Andrews University artist, Harry Ahn, was unveiled in James White Library on October 26, 2015. This poster celebrates that event and includes a number of photographs of and about Ellen G. White found in the Center for Adventist Research.

Mary Rickelman is currently the Reference/Research and Cataloging Librarian at Adventist University of Health Sciences in Orlando, Florida. She has worked at ADU for almost 10 years. Before ADU she spent time working in a hospital library and public library. Mary received her Master's in Library and Information Science from the University of South Florida.

Neal Smith is the Scholarly Communications Librarian at Adventist University of Health Sciences. He specializes in copyright education and electronic systems. Prior to coming to ADU, Neal served as a legal reference librarian in Massachusetts. He has an MS in Library and Information Science from Simmons College and a JD from the University of New Hampshire School of Law.

Title: How LibGuides 2/CMS helps share Library resources across the University

Abstract: This informational poster shares ways the Robert A. Williams Library team has promoted library resources across campus using LibGuides CMS. The Robert A. Williams Library team is always looking for new ways to promote and share the library's diverse resources. Come learn about linking LibGuides in your course management system, sharing LibGuides with other departments, and collaborating with teaching faculty.

Nicola Palmer
Northern Caribbean University

Nicola Palmer has been with the Hiram S. Walters Resource Centre at Northern Caribbean University for ten (10) years. Currently, she acts as Director of Library Services, along with her duties as Acquisitions Librarian. Having earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in English and the Master in Library and Information Studies from the University of the West Indies, Ms. Palmer also holds a diploma in Teacher Education. She has published in NCU's flagship journal, the Caribbean Annals and also the university's International Humanities Review. Nicola has presented at the 29th Association of Seventh-Day Adventists Librarians Conference in Michigan, the 2012 Caribbean Area Network for Quality Assurance in Tertiary Education (CANQATE) Conference in Montego Bay, Jamaica, and most recently the College Libraries and Information Network's (COLINET) 2016 Symposium in Runaway Bay, Jamaica.

An avid public speaker, Ms. Palmer has served in various capacities on the executive committee of the Library and Information Association of Jamaica and civic boards in her community. She enjoys travelling with her daughter, Mikaela, playing table tennis, and reading.

Title: IL(L) @ Ease: Making the Case for Information Literacy Delivery at Northern Caribbean University

Abstract: UNESCO's document on media and information literacy posits that individuals, "must... (also) possess basic skills for critical thinking, to analyse and use them for self-expression, for becoming independent learners, producers, informed citizens, professionals and participants in the governance and democratic processes of their societies." It has been on this premise that librarians at Northern Caribbean University have long recognised the imperative of creating a culture of information literacy on campus. This recognition, however, has taken some time to translate into the reality of having a formalised programme of IL delivery to our community. Presently, the method used to reach faculty and students is less than satisfactory due to various factors. This poster will serve to identify some of the variables that now mitigate against our best intentions to create awareness of how being information literate is advantageous to the university citizen. It will also identify the sources of help for us as librarians as we work towards the dispelling IL(L) ease we feel that our students are not sufficiently prepared to make judicious information decisions both in their educational careers and the waiting world of work.

KEYNOTE SPEAKERS

Nichole Martin

Ross Martin

Husband and wife team Ross and Nichole Martin met while working at the Seminole State College of Florida library in 2007. In addition to their shared interests in libraries and technology, they enjoy playing designer board games, eating vegan food, and hiking.

Ross has worked in libraries for 15 years, and received his MLIS from the University of South Florida in 2008. In addition to working as the Outreach Librarian at Seminole State, Ross works as an adjunct librarian at the University of Central Florida and teaches an undergraduate online class about Internet research. His areas of professional interest include data analysis, online learning, and student engagement.

Nichole received her MLIS from Florida State University in 2010. At the University of Central Florida, she completed her Bachelor's in Technical Education and will finish a second Master's degree this year in Instructional Design & Technology. In addition, Nichole teaches a course in social media tools to undergraduate students. As the Instructional Technologies Librarian at Seminole State, Nichole focuses her work on digital media, user experience, and web design.

PRESENTERS

Kieren Bailey has been a librarian for seven years. Currently, she is the Public Services Librarian at Union College. She previously worked at Oakwood University as the Reference and Instruction Librarian. Kieren is working on a doctorate in education with specialization in the learning sciences at the University of Calgary.

Benjamin Baker has degrees in theology, education, and history. He has authored or edited five books and over 100 articles, and was a college professor from 2002-2006. From 2011-2015 he was the Assistant Archivist of ASTR, and in April 2015 was appointed the Managing Editor of the Encyclopedia of Seventh-day Adventists.

Darel Bennedbaek joined Burman University Library in 2012 as the Assistant Librarian and works with Sheila Clark in many diverse tasks.

Merlin D. Burt is Director of the Center for Adventist Research at Andrews University. He is also Director of the White Estate Branch Office and Professor of Church History at the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary. He has been with the Ellen G. White Estate since 1993. Previous to his present position, he served for ten years as Director of the Loma Linda University White Estate Branch Office, as Chair of Archives and Special Collections, and with the Faculty of Religion at Loma Linda University.

Dr. Burt received his PhD from the Andrews University Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary in 2003. He and Sarah, his wife of 36 years, have two grown sons and a teenage daughter in college. They also have two grandchildren. Dr. Burt's hobbies include collecting Adventist-related materials and woodworking. His passion is for Seventh-day Adventists to connect God's leading in the past to a personal living Christian experience.

Todd Chobotar serves as Founder, Publisher, and Editor-in-Chief of the publishing program at Florida Hospital—the largest admitting hospital in America. The focus of his work is creating consumer books, professional monographs, and other whole-person care resources with an emphasis on health and healing for the Mind, Body, and Spirit. He is the author or coauthor of four books with a total approaching 1 million copies in print. He has also served as editor on dozens of publications. During his 20 years of service at Florida Hospital, Chobotar managed the development of 10 television specials that reached an audience of over 15 million viewers. Chobotar holds two business degrees from Andrews University. He lives in Orlando with his wife Jeannine, twins Joshua and Sarah, and two cats Simon & Schuster. For more information, visit ToddChobotar.com.

Sheila Clark was the Access Services Librarian at Walla Walla University from 1993 – 2007 before returning to Canada and joining Burman University (or Canadian University College, as it was known at the time) as the Assistant Librarian. In 2009 she became the Director of Burman University Library.

Bruce Closser, Ph.D., is Associate Professor of English at Andrews University, Director of the Andrews University Writing Center, and sponsor of the Andrews University Drama Club.

Lori N. Curtis has been an inveterate book lover her entire life and thus was probably destined to be a librarian. After graduating from Pacific Union College in 1980, she took a year off to work at the Adventist Media Center and then on to graduate school at the University of California – Riverside, where she majored in English History and Early Modern European History. After receiving her MA in 1983, she began work towards her doctorate, but the birth of her son in 1984 put that effort on temporary hold. At this point Lori realized that rare book and manuscript librarianship would be a profession that would combine her love of history and books, and so in 1985, she applied and was accepted into the Library Science program at the University of California – Los Angeles, where she focused on special collections and archives administration. Lori remembers starting classes on her son’s first birthday! Upon graduation in 1987, Lori accepted the position as Assistant Curator of Special Collections at the University of Tulsa (Oklahoma), ending her tenure there as Head of Special Collections and Archives in mid-January of 2006. At that time she moved back to California to accept the position as Archivist at Loma Linda University. Soon she found herself in the position of Associate Chair, Department of Special Collections and Archives, and then Chair, the position she currently holds in addition to being Co-Director of the Heritage Research Center. Her nearly 30-year career in rare books, manuscripts, archives, and more has never been dull – wonderful materials to work with and interesting people to meet. But she still needs to get back to that doctorate!

Jim Ford serves as the Associate Director of the Andrews University Center for Adventist Research in Berrien Springs, Michigan, a position he has held since 2003. Prior to that he was the Curator, Adventist Heritage Center, also at Andrews University. He also served at the General Conference Archives for a number of years.

Adorée Hatton graduated from Canadian University College (now Burman University) in 2010 with a BA in English, then went on to the University of Sheffield in the United Kingdom. She graduated with an MA in Librarianship in 2013. She currently lives in Red Deer, Alberta, Canada, and works at Burman University in Lacombe, Alberta. She is the Director of the Edith Fitch Department of Archives, housed and supported by Burman University. She also contract teaches for the English department. Professionally, she is very interested in the use of information technology in the classroom and is working towards making the Edith Fitch Department of Archives much more user-friendly and accessible to students and faculty. Personally, she enjoys travel: having been to the United Kingdom, France, Germany, Austria, Spain, Italy, and Germany, the next places on her list are Iceland and Croatia. She also enjoys spending time at home with her cats and learning to cook new recipes or make homemade spa products.

Kenrie Hylton began his career at his alma mater, Northern Caribbean University (NCU) in Jamaica, where he earned a BSc in Information Science. Here he served in a number of information technology based roles, including being the Chair for the Computer & Information Sciences Department. He earned an M.Sc. degree in Applied Computer Science from Columbus State University, and a PhD in Information Systems from Nova Southeastern University. He joined the Office of Archives, Statistics, and Research at the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists in 2015 as the Digital Records Manager.

Juliette Johnson has a strong background in technology, data organization, and digital conversion. Juliette has been crucial in the development and launch of the Adventist Digital Library. Prior to her current responsibilities, she served as the Digitization Manager for the Center for Adventist Research. Her love of history and her understanding of technology has helped shape the policies and strengthened the output of the Center. Juliette holds a BA in Art History from Pacific Union College, and spent 17 years of her life in the mission field with her parents.

Roy Kline, with an MBA in Hospital Management, has spent the predominant portion of his career managing for-profit healthcare delivery systems from Maryland to California. Delivery venues include hospitals, free-standing medical centers, in-patient substance abuse treatment centers, and outpatient imaging centers. Prior to his current position as Assistant Director, Archives, Statistics and Research for the Seventh-day Adventist World Church, he served six years as a missionary to Southern Asia – managing Adventist hospitals in Kathmandu, Nepal; Aizal, India; and Karachi, Pakistan.

Eric Koester is the Digital Systems Manager, Adventist Digital Library and holds a BA degree from Southern Adventist University. He has over fifteen years' experience in software design and development with specialized experience in the print and digital publishing industry. He recently served for seven years as a bi-vocational pastor in Canada before returning to Berrien Springs, Michigan, to take up his role with the Adventist Digital Library. He has a lifelong passion for church history, especially the spread of the Advent movement in Europe and America prior to 1844.

Joel Lutes is the Electronic Resources Librarian at Pacific Union College. M.L.S., San Jose State University

Lauren Matacio, M.A., M.S.L., is Instruction Librarian at Andrews University, a member of the Effective Teaching & Learning Council at Andrews University, and a member of the Southwest Michigan Library Cooperative Board.

Sabrina Riley completed a BA in History from Andrews University in 1996 and an MLS at the University of Michigan in 1998. She was Instruction Librarian at Andrews University for five years and has been Library Director at Union College (Lincoln, Nebraska) since 2003. At Union College her duties include a wide range of responsibilities, including administration, electronic resources, original cataloging, and special collections/archives. She was President of ASDAL in 2007-2008 and currently serves as one of ASDAL's representatives on the board of the Adventist Digital Library. Most recently she has been building a collaborative relationship between Union College Library and the Lincoln Lancaster County Genealogical Society, which has led to a number of speaking engagements.

Jessica Spears is the Research Services Librarian at McKee Library, a position which she has held for three years. As a part of the library instruction team, Jessica developed and leads the embedded librarian service. In addition, Jessica is the Executive Editor of the library's newsletter, McKee Minute, and manages all marketing and public relations activities.

Alfredo Vergel is the Public Services and Special Collections Librarian at Southwestern Adventist University. He is an unintentional collector of master's degrees and a Texas Adventist history columnist for several denominational periodicals. Alfredo Vergel has also managed to live without a mobile phone until recently. Whether working the soil, establishing plants, watching them grow and go through the seasons, or reaping a harvest, he is happiest in his garden. There he listens to God's voice, amuses his child's curiosity, and witnesses life unfold. Together with his very loving wife and the bundle of energy they have for a child, he looks forward to meeting his other child when the dead in Christ shall rise.

RETIRING

RETIRING ASDAL MEMBERS

Bruce McClay
School of Nursing Librarian
Walla Walla University
Retired: December 30, 2015

Bruce McClay joined the WWU Libraries in June of 2000 as the (SON) Portland School of Nursing Librarian. His philosophy of service, “actively put students first,” revitalized the library and made it a growing, vibrant place for students to gather, work, and research. This strong service orientation played a key role in reshaping the library’s role and use on the Portland campus. During his tenure, the library received accreditation commendations from both the Oregon State Board of Nursing and the National League for Nursing Accrediting Commission.

For 15 years Bruce ably served the nursing students and faculty on the Portland Campus, retiring in December of 2015. He provided excellent reference service, knew the students by name, and was interested in their academic and personal success. Students demonstrated their appreciation for Bruce’s contribution to their education by twice asking him to provide the Nurses Dedication address during graduation weekend.

An excellent colleague, Bruce spent hours on the phone listening to and participating in weekly library faculty meetings with the librarians on the College Place campus. This was a dedicated and heroic effort since few topics pertained specifically to the SON Library. His sense of humor helped us lighten up and was especially appreciated when difficulties threatened to overwhelm. Bruce also served the university as a member of such committees as Governance and Learning Resources (Portland).

ASDAL was also the recipient of his many talents. Bruce made many presentations at ASDAL conferences and served on a number of committees. As President-Elect for 2003-2004, he organized the 24th annual conference, which was held at Florida Hospital College, now Adventist University of Health Sciences. As President during 2004-2005, he presided over the business sessions for the 25th annual conference held at Union College. Notably, Bruce was a 1995 recipient of the D. Glenn Hilts Scholarship.

Bruce published articles in and reviewed books for ASDAL Action and served as the WWU Libraries Public Relations Coordinator. In this role, he actively wrote and solicited articles from WWU librarians and staff for both ASDAL Action and the ACRL-Washington Newsletter. In 2002, Bruce served as a Senior Subject Advisor for The Best Books for Academic Libraries:

Serving as a lay pastor for the Oregon Conference, Bruce spent Sabbaths preaching at various churches, often including nursing students in his presentation. He and his wife, Mary, provided a devotional about the Portland nursing students for the WWU Board of Trustees at one of the meetings held on the Portland campus.

While officially retired, Bruce continues to serve Adventist librarianship and Walla Walla University. Spring 2016 found him teaching a four hour course, History of Western Civilization, Monday and Tuesday evenings, on the Portland campus. Additionally, he went to Union College during the winter of 2016, and as Sabrina wrote in the most recent ASDAL Action, "We are equally pleased that Bruce McClay has agreed to help Union College this winter in the area of Public Services. I know his wealth of experience and warm personality will be a blessing to our students and staff alike. Bruce plans to be here until sometime in early to mid-March."

Retirement celebrations for Bruce were held on the Portland campus in December, 2015, and the College Place campus in May, 2016.

Marsha Rasmussen

Electronic Resources and Technical Services Librarian
Southwestern University
Retires: June 30, 2016

Marsha Rasmussen, Associate Librarian will be retiring from Southwestern on June 30, 2016.

Marsha has served in Seventh-day Adventist denominational employment for over 28 years. Marsha began employment at Southwestern as Reference and Circulation Librarian and has served in her current position as Electronic Resources and Technical Services Librarian for the past eight years.

In retirement, Marsha would like to teach adult literacy. She also looks forward to more time with family, starting on a bucket list of a long queue of craft projects, more responsibilities in church, and travel with her husband looking for the perfect photograph.

Please join me in congratulating Marsha on her upcoming retirement and thanking her for her years of dedication and commitment to Southwestern Adventist University!

Adu Worku
Director
Pacific Union College
Retires: June 30, 2016

No one knows the transforming power of education better than Adu Worku. Worku's path to PUC's Nelson Memorial Library began in Northwest Ethiopia, where his peasant farmer parents taught him an agrarian life. The bright, curious young farmer would have followed in his illiterate parents' footsteps if not for a freak eye accident that was treated at a far away Seventh day Adventist hospital. While there, he observed children attending school, and Worku, then fifteen, became determined to learn.

Worku graduated from eighth grade at age 22 and high school at age 26. He received his bachelor's degree from Avondale College, two masters' degrees from Andrews University, and his Masters in Library Science from the University of Southern California. In 2009, he received an honorary doctorate in human letters from Southwestern Adventist University.

He came to PUC in 1985 as Science Librarian and has been serving as Library Director since 1993. He has given back to generations of students and the Angwin community. Worku, also a talented musician, poet, and author, didn't forget about his village in Ethiopia. The Worku Jenber School he established now educates hundreds of boys and girls, giving them the same transformational gift of education he received long ago.

Jenny Alleyne

Serials and Instruction
Adventist University of Health Sciences
Retires: December 31, 2016

The R.A. Williams Library at Adventist University would like to honor Jennifer Alleyne's dedication to serving others. Jenny has been at Adventist University of Health Sciences since 2001, just celebrating her 15th year. She has been a serials librarian, taught research and reference classes, catalogued, and recently served as the Head of Liaison & Instructional Services. In 2003 she attained her Masters Degree in Library Science from University of South Florida, and also joined ASDAL. But this was not Jenny's first career.

1974 was a big year for Jenny. She moved from her home in Trinidad to Toronto, Canada, where she attended York University, ultimately graduating with an English degree. During her time in Toronto, Jenny worked in the court system, met and married her husband Rex in 1976, and eventually had two children, Marixa and Marx. Rex's career in banking took the family to Trinidad, back to Canada, and then to Central Florida. While in Trinidad, Jenny taught languages again at the high school level, as she had done before her move to Toronto. In all she taught for 14 years and was often the favorite of her students. With the move to Orlando, Jenny attended Webster University and earned a degree in healthcare management. Then she began her library career.

Jenny has personified stewardship at Adventist University. Growing up as one of 14 children in Trinidad, she learned to value resources early. Whenever there is leftover food at a university event, Jenny looks for someone who may be hungry and does not let the food go to waste; she is a friend to those in need. We celebrate her life of service in the classroom, courtroom, and library.
